

Booklist

Advanced Review – Uncorrected Proof

Issue: March 15, 2008

Secrets of the Hollywood Girls Club.

Marr, Maggie (Author)

Apr 2008. 272 p. Crown, hardcover, $23.95. (9780307346315).

In this lively sequel, Marr revisits the female power players from The Hollywood Girls Club (2007). Actress Celeste Solange is desperately trying to keep a lid on a sex tape made during her first marriage, to a kinky producer. Screenwriter Mary Anne Meyers is in the throes of a passionate new relationship with handsome movie star Holden Humphrey, but his ex-girlfriend, the mentally unstable starlet Vieve Dyson, will do anything to get him back. Producer Lydia Albright, the new president of Worldwide Pictures, knows keeping Celeste's sex tape under wraps is the best way to ensure that Worldwide's multimillion dollar deal with Celeste doesn't go down the drain, so with the help of agent Jessica Caulfield-Fox, she tries to purchase the video and find out who's been sending her taunting letters. While the women rally to keep one scandal under wraps, publicist Kiki Dee may have found another that trumps even a scandalous sex tape. Marr's second novel is frothy, gossipy fun for US and People magazine addicts.

— Kristine Huntley